Moving Minds are looking for participants to help with an exciting research project which explores dance as a metaphor for dementia.

We need the help of people who have been affected by dementia – both those who have received a dementia related diagnosis and those who live and work alongside them.

Participants will be asked one question – ‘if dementia was a dance, what kind of dance would it be?’

All you need to participate is a little bit of time and access to a smart phone so that you can record and send your response (we will send some guidelines on the best way to do this).

To take part please call/text Elaine on 07881 922343 or email movingminds@yorks.ac.uk
